Although he cannot reveal any details on who the potential buyers are at this stage, Mr Knaggs says announcements are expected as negotiations progress throughout the year and titles are issued. He says they are seeking a mix of commercial, government, education, commercial floor space medical, health and residential.

SunCentral CEO John Knaggs has revealed that “productive negotiations” are underway on 90 per cent of the first 32 potential commercial lots in Maroochydore’s new CBD. Among those are lots the University of the Sunshine Coast has shown interest in.
